Ifor Williams Trailers awarded 2000 Sir Roland Burke Perpetual Challenge Machinery Trophy

The Royal Agricultural Society of England has awarded Ifor Williams Trailers Ltd the prestigious Sir Roland Burke Perpetual Challenge Machinery Trophy for 2000.

The trophy was presented at the Royal Show by Her Royal Highness Princess Alexandra immediately following the official opening of the show on Monday 3 July 2000.

The trophy was presented to Mr Peter Leslie and Mr Gwynfor Hughes, the company's Technical Marketing Manager and Sales Manager respectively.

The RASE's premier machinery award honours the outstanding and sustained contribution made in a particular sector of agricultural mechanisation by a firm with manufacturing facilities in the UK.

In addition to the company's trade stand (Stand No. F199), visitors to the show were able to view some of the company's products on a stand provided by the RASE for the trophy winner. The display included a general purpose trailer produced in 1965. Carrying the serial number 795 indicates the company's total production of trailers in the first seven years of operation. At today's production levels it would take little more than seven days to produce that number!
